Warren Consolidated Schools educator named The Henry Ford's Innovation Nation Teacher Innovator grand prize winner

Warren, MI – Matthew Mutschler, social studies teacher at the Warren Consolidated Schools Middle School Visual & Performing Arts program, was recently awarded The Henry Ford's Innovation Nation Teacher Innovator grand prize, presented by Raytheon Technologies.

Mutschler was one of 10 grand prize winners from across the country to receive the honor. The winners were selected based on their ability to demonstrate habits of an innovator, as well as inspire their students to challenge the rules and take risks, demonstrate how to be collaborative and empathetic, and teach the value of learning from failure and staying curious.

Raytheon Technologies awarded Mutschler $1,500 in funds for classroom supplies, select merchandise from The Henry Ford, and a one-year premium subscription to The Henry Ford's educational products and services. Winners are also invited to participate in a THF Conversations panel discussion about innovative teaching practices.

Mutschler is the only educator from Michigan to receive the grand prize honor.
